Hiding in the tiny toilet enclosure is out of the question. The owners just came from the restaurant, and."A witch doctor." Kalens smiled at the frown on Celia's."At least we don't give out orders for other people to take our risks for us," Nanook said, speaking quietly to calm the atmosphere. And why isn't your operation bigger?"He crosses the threshold and eases the door shut behind him..CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE."We get them," Nanook agreed. "But not a lot. Would you like some fresh lemonade?"."Hey, don't get too excited about this," Colman cautioned. "I only said rd be interested in seeing it. The Army might have different ideas about me getting involved. Don't bet your life savings on it."."But you've already confirmed that the question of illegality does not arise," Kalens pointed out. She lay silent for a while and then went on in a more distant voice, "But it's still not really the same. I mean, it must be wonderful to have actually been born there ... to know that you were directly descended through all those generations, right back to when it all began."."INTERGALACTIC SPACECRAFT, alien abductions, an extraterrestrial base hidden on the dark side."I might have guessed," Colman said, nodding to him-. "Everybody does."."Eating that stuff right before bed," Noah told him, "you're sure to have sweet dreams."The Lion-yin's lower orbit put it out of synchronism with the Mayflower 11 and resulted in the two vessels being shielded from each other by Chiron's mass for a period of thirty-two minutes every three-and-a-quarter hours. The sixteen Devastator missiles would be launched from the Battle Module while the Mayflower II was screened from the Kuan-yin's retaliatory fire. One salvo would be programmed to follow planet-grazing courses that would bring them up low and fast from points all around Chiron's rim, while the second salvo, launched a few minutes earlier, would swing wide and out into space to come back in at the Kuan-yin from various directions at the rear, the flights being timed so that they all converged upon the Chironian weapon simultaneously. A mass the size of the Kuan-yin could not maneuver rapidly, and the worst-case simulations run on the computers had shown an overwhelming margin in favor of the attack, whatever.Trust. "I was willing to bargain," he grated. "Evidently we have failed to impress upon you the seriousness of our intentions. Very well, you leave me no further choice. Perhaps a demonstration will serve to convince you." He turned to Stormbel. "General, advise the status of the missile now targeted at the Chiron scientific base in northern Selene."The answer turned out to be no when two teams of physicists on opposite sides of the world-one led by a Professor Okasotaka, at the Tokyo Institute of Sciences, and the other working at Stanford under an American by the name of Schriber-developed identical theories to unify quarks and leptons and published them at the same time. It turned out that the sixteen entities and "antientities" of the ground-state generation could be explained by just two components which S themselves possessed surprisingly few innate properties: Each had a spin angular momentum of one-half unit, and one had an electrical charge of one-third while the other had none. The other.Excitement and anticipation were showing in Kath's eyes as the last of the speeches ended. A hush fell over the gathering while Lechat stepped up to cut the ribbon and formally commission the ship that he would command. Kath squeezed Colman's arm, and beside them Lurch II held Alex high on its forearm for a better view as the drapes fell away to uncover a gleaming plaque of bronze upon which was inscribed in two-foot-high letters: HENRY B. CONGREVE-the new name of the ship that would bring Earth's children home..The mention of antimatter reminded Colman of something. He sat back on the sofa and cast his mind back as he tried to pinpoint what. It reminded him of something Kath had said. The others stopped talking and looked at him curiously. And then it came to him. He cocked his head to one side and looked at Bernard. "Did you know that Chironians were modifying the Kuan-yin into an antimatter ship?" he asked. Sinsemilla sat in bed, atop the toad-green polyester spread, reclining regally against a pile of pillows. She and the mattress rest upon the platform, and even the thinnest slip of a boogeyman couldn't hide under. He watched her walk away. Then between long swallows, he studied his beer as though it meant. The inverted logic that had puzzled him had not been something peculiar to the military mind; it was just that the military mind was the only one he had ever really known. The inversions came from the whole insane system that the Military was just a part of the system that fought wars to protect peace and enslaved nations by liberating them; that turned hatred and revenge into the will of an all benevolent God and programmed its litanies into the minds of children; that burned and tortured its heretics while preaching forgiveness, and made a sin of love and a virtue of murder; and which brought lunatics to power by demanding requirements of office that no balanced mind could meet. A lot of things were becoming clearer now as the Chironians relentlessly pulled the curtain away. . . of port on a long holiday. . . night. . . position to see any light that might leak under or around the door. . . Wanting to justify his mother's pride in him, he struggles to regain control of himself. "What do you think of that theory, Mrs. D?" Leilani asked with little of her usual humor, but with a quiet. "I have to go back inside now to fix things up," Colman said, leading them back toward the gatehouse, where Armley was watching curiously with Jay. "Mike," Colman said to him as they stopped by the door. "Take these two people inside and fix them up with coffee or something, will you. Jay, wait inside with Veronica. I have to get back in with Bret, but I'll be back in a few minutes. Don't worry. It'll be okay." PRINTED IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Jay shrugged again. "Protection, maybe." "Even if you insist you've no ambition, you certainly deserve to be paid for your talent. May I see that. That was why Colman had no doubt in his mind that the Chironians had had nothing to do with the bombings. He had talked to Kath, and she had assured him no Chironians would have been involved. It was an act of faith, he conceded, but he believed that she knew the truth and had spoken it. The Chironians had reacted to Padawski in the way that Colman had known instinctively that they would specifically, with economy of effort, and with a surgical precision that had not involved the innocent. . . of great age and immeasurable wisdom. "Do you deny that by exposing civilians you hoped to precipitate an incident that would have justified sending in troops?" Kalens had evidently been working on the details for some time. He recovered the support of the commercial lobby by proposing that Chironian "nursery-school economics" be excluded from the enclave, and won the professional interests over with a plan to tie all exchanges of goods and services conducted within the boundary to a special issue of currency to be underwritten by the Mayflower II's bank. The Chironians who lived and worked inside the prescribed limits would be free to come and go and to remain resident if they desired, provided that they recognize and observe Terran law. If they did not, they would be subject to the same enforcement as anyone else. If its integrity was threatened by disruptive external influences, the enclave would be defended as national territory. "He's had the whole unit standing by specifically for something like this," Colman replied. "He's waiting for news right now, that's why I'm here." . . A vivid imagination has always been his refuge. Tonight it is his curse. . . that had kept her from drowning in self-pity since she'd moved in here. "Really? You don't look like you've been raised in a box." . . Later, when he had only an empty bottle to study, Noah left Francene a tip larger than the total of his. "Of course not! But one of the Tech grades maybe . . . Two or Three perhaps. "I 'got the last one," Colman reminded them. Somehow the enthusiasm had gone out of the party. . . Micky had finished her second cup of coffee. She couldn't recall drinking it. She got up to pour a refill. . . you were born, and they won't know if you can never speak of the place, so then you'll live forever. And. really are beautiful, Ms. Donella, so stupendous, awesome, you can live by your own rules, like a rhino." . . The party of Terrans and Chironians moved on and left the audience to the explosive tirade that followed. "Those were hardly more than children," Eve Verritty murmured. . . grassy scent overlays the more subtle smell of rich, raw soil. Geneva's voice wavered on God and broke on fool: "Oh, God, what a blind stupid worthless fool I. with men. In the recent past, Leilani's well-meaning murmured insistence on milk would have jammed. "Never say you don't get anything back for your taxes." Colman was sitting next to her, grinning faintly in the brief glow as one of the others lit a cigarette. But she had gone for so much of the day without speaking that she was unable to answer immediately. His hand found her arm in the darkness and squeezed briefly but reassuringly. "It'll be okay," he murmured. "We've fixed somewhere safe for you to go, and you're all set to get out of Phoenix tonight.
