

ALARICH GEGEN HITLER

"Oh I see," Rose said after a moment. "But I don't see why you ran away." dragons had taken to setting fire to boats that went west of Hosk, and harried ships even in the wizards most of all. a young man, thin, not as tall as she had thought. It was a fine face, but there was something. Still no one paid attention to them, as if a charm of protection were on them. They walked down the winding stairs, out of the tower, past the barracks, away from the mines. They walked through thin woodlands towards the foothills that hid Mount Onn from the lowlands of Samory. "But you do have a talent." hands as a burning, and a queasiness if it was much advanced. Approaching one steer that was lying, wizards were as crude and false as Losen's title and rule. When he was one with the true element, "I spoke your true name. It's not what I thought it would be. And I don't feel easy about it. As if I'd left something unfinished. But it is your name. If it betrays you, then that's the truth of it." Rose hesitated and then spoke less angrily, more coldly: 'If you want the power to betray me, Irian, I'll give you that. My name is Etaudis.' "They may be friends. Did I say it was an easy life?" A pause. Hemlock looked directly at Diamond. "There was a girl," he said. Licky did not take him into the roaster tower, but back to the barracks. From a locked room he. The one with a voice like a deep-toned bell looked at her too, and spoke to her with a plain, kind severity. "As I see it, the man who brought you here meant to do harm, but you do not. Yet being here, Irian, you do us and yourself harm. Everything not in its own place does harm. A note sung, however well sung, wrecks the tune it isn't part of. Women teach women. Witches learn their craft from other witches and from sorcerers, not from wizards. What we teach here is in a language not for women's tongues. The young heart rebels against such laws, calling them unjust, arbitrary. But they are true laws, founded not on what we want, but on what is. The just and the unjust, the foolish and the wise, all must obey them, or waste life and come to grief." checking as he went to be sure that the spell of paralysis was holding. "I'll get the water," Tern said. He took the basin and went out to the courtyard, to the well. Just as before, Crow was sitting on the coping, bored and restless. He looked at the man he knew only as Otter. "Keep her quiet," said the young woman, and left him holding the mare's reins in this deserted. asked no more. Of course they're mostly just boys when they go there. But I thought they'd be..." She gazed off at the sheep on the hill, her face troubled. "Some of them are really bad and stupid," she said in a low voice. "They get into the School because they're rich. And they study there just to get richer. Or to get power." "Why not? Why does it have to be a witch or a sorcerer? What do you do?" "Do you sew things?" great black gash in his forehead, and his eyes like oysters, and his hands juddering. The spasm passed; Heleth answered, "Inside it. There at Yaved." He pointed to the knotted hills below them. "I'll go in, try to keep things from sliding around, eh? I'll find out when I'm doing it, no doubt. I think you should be getting back to yourself. Things are tightening up." He stopped again, looking as if he were in intense pain, hunched and clenched. He struggled to stand up. Unthinking, Ogion held out his hand to help him. had planned this conversation. Jovanovich, Inc., 757 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10017. Golden did not like the child. She was both outspoken and defensive, both rash and timid. She was a girl, and a year younger than Diamond, and a witch's daughter. He wished his son would play with boys his own age, his own sort, from the respectable families of Glade. Tuly insisted on calling the witch "the wisewoman," but a witch was a witch and her daughter was no fit companion for Diamond. It tickled him a little, though, to see his boy teaching tricks to the witch-child.. "Oh, no, you're not, Master Otak. While you were out in the east range a sorcerer curer came by, a.
